

Statement on the letter of the four groups: In Roşia Montană there is no place for nationalists and racists!

The campaign "Salvaţi Roşia Montană!" has always taken a position against nationalist, racist or xenophobic ideologies and tendencies. Roşia Montană itself is the home of a variety of cultures and languages and its salvation always presupposed the respect for the history and diversity created here. Persistently, we have rejected any cooperation with political parties, regardless of their orientation. That has always characterized our movement and these principles can also be found in the selection of partners, volunteers or specialists in domains of Archeology, Economics and natural sciences, with whom we cooperate.

The incident named in the letter is an isolated incident. Its generalization to the entire campaign "Salvaţi Roşia Montană!" does not correspond to the realities of our movement. That's why we find this generalization dangerous. We assure that the organizers of FânFest and those who care about the trouble-free running of the event would have intervened without hesitation, if they would have been informed about the incident.

The campaign "Salvaţi Roşia Montană!" is a movement with supporters all over the world. Its strength it always took from those who have realized that here will never be any place for nationalist, racist and xenophobic forces. We remain inextricably related to this idea. Be assured that our efforts are focused that the for 15 years ongoing struggle of the inhabitants of Roşia Montană remains the fight of generations for freedom, human rights and respect for democratic values.

We invite you to celebrate together with us the tenth FânFest and to participate actively by presenting your initiatives.
